TWO SIGNIFICANT UTTERANCES.

Two of the most prominent men in the United States have been quoted in the daily papers during the last few days, and the utterances of each are full of significance. We refer to President McKinley's Atlanta speech, and Col. Wm. J. Bryan's interview on the expansion "crisis" that has taken possession of a large element of our people.

The appearance of Mr. McKinley, a Republican President, himself a soldier on the Union side, in the South, to celebrate a peace over which both North and South rejoice, without any reference to what the President said, would be an unusual incident, and especially so when one of the honored guests at the celebration—Joe Wheeler—was a gallant Confederate General, and equally as gallant in the fight which brought the peace now celebrated. But the surrounding circumstances are not by any means the most significant feature of the Atlanta celebration. It is what the President said in his address to the General Assembly of Georgia.

"Every soldier's grave made during our unfortunate civil war is a tribute to American valor. And while, when those graves were made, we differed widely about the future of this government, the differences were long ago settled by the arbitrament of arms—and the time has now come in the evolution of sentiment and feeling, under the providence of God, when, in the spirit of fraternity we should share with you in the care of the graves of the Confederate soldiers."

"The cordial feeling now happily existing between the North and South prompts this gracious act, and, if it needed further justification, it is found in the gallant loyalty to the Union and to the flag so conspicuously shown in the year just passed by the sons and grandsons of these heroic dead."

"What a glorious future awaits us, if, unitedly, wisely and bravely we face the new problem now pressing upon us, determined to solve them for right and humanity."

Such was the sentiment the President brought to us of the South, and we hope that it will be accepted as sincere.

When a Northern man meets a Southern audience with such a sentiment, warm hearted as our people are, it is not surprising that we read that the audience made the building ring with the Southern yell. Mr. McKinley's sentiment is tastefully expressed. It was "an unfortunate civil war," its heroes were "Confederates," not rebels; their graves are not only tributes to Southern, but "American valor."

Surely just at present we could not reasonably ask for much greater concession.

The other important utterance is from a Democrat, and it is significant on account of his prominence in his party. He is opposed to the policy of expansion, and his influence in shaping the policy of the party makes what he says on the subject very important.

Mr. Bryan puts the situation well: "I may be in error, but, in my judgment, our nation is in greater danger just now than Cuba. Our people defend Cuba against foreign arms; now they must defend themselves and their country against a foreign idea—the colonial idea of European nations. Heretofore greed has perverted the Government and used its instrumentalities for private gain, but now the very foundation principles of our Government are assailed." We are glad that Mr. Bryan will defend us against this new enemy.

Continuing he says: "The imperialistic idea is directly antagonistic to the idea and ideals which have been cherished by the American people since signing the Declaration of Independence," because we hold to the doctrine "that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed." "We may believe that governments come up from the people, or we may believe that governments come down to the people from those who possess the heaviest cannon and the largest ships, but we cannot advocate both doctrines." This nation can not endure half Republic and half colony, half free and half vassal."

EXPANSION TREATY.

The Treaty of Paris marks a new departure in our national policy, and it is such an innovation that the whole theory of our government may be changed by it. It may now become a serious question whether indeed our end shall be a Republic or an Empire. At no time in the history of the country was there greater need for far seeing and able statesmen in Congress. During the next few years, or perhaps for many years, we believe the great struggle will be on the questions growing out of the Spanish-American war. The Republicans will naturally as a general rule align themselves along the line of expansion and imperialism. The cardinal doctrines of the party logically lead them to an easy step to this position. The argument that "protection to infant industries" naturally and logically leads to paternalism in all of its forms is now familiar to every reader who is well informed on the fundamental differences between the Republican and Democratic parties. Paternalism as naturally and logically leads to the new doctrines of expansion and imperialism as "protection for protection's sake" has led to governmental bounties in all shapes and forms. Why should it not delight a Republican's heart, believing as he does in a strong centralized government at Washington, to contemplate the Government at Washington ruling and controlling the Philippine Islands thousands of miles away, separated from the seat of power by a great expanse of water? Then too he sees in it opportunity to rejoice that the ideal of centralization is near at hand, because he sees the prospect of a large standing army, the natural product of centralization and a necessity as well under such a policy, to say nothing of a powerful navy.

But the Democrat is more conservative. He is slow to invite a change. He believes in every neighborhood controlling and governing its own affairs just as far as possible, and he suspects that every gain of power at Washington is at the expense of his liberty and right in his own neighborhood and State. He believes in the citizen helping himself and that the Government ought not to do anything for the citizen that he can do for himself. His faith being in local self-government he is naturally opposed to all forms of centralization and paternalism, and for these reasons among others we shall not be surprised to find most Democrats opposed to the new theories of imperialism.

The average justice-loving citizen will doubt the right of this Government to take the Philippines, except by the right that comes through force and might. The relinquishment of all sovereignty by Spain over Cuba was the object of the war sought to be accomplished, and no one outside of a few ignorant Spaniards in Spain ever doubted that this would be accomplished when this powerful country undertook the job. It was professedly "a war for humanity," and nearly the whole civilized world applauded us when we declared that barbarity at our very doors must be stopped and Cuba is, and by right ought to be free and independent. But now it is a triumph political party have gone into a game of grabbing all of the spoils in sight.

Why should we want the Philippines? Will they not cost us more than they will ever be worth to us? Will the spoliation in which we are engaged pay us for the trouble?

WALKER ERNEST CROSBY.

Another! 'Tis a sad word to the heart, That one by one has lost its hold on life, From all it loved or valued forced to part.

Our hopes have been turned into mourning. W. Ernest Crosby, who was sick in Harrisburg, Penn., and whose condition has been written up several times in THE NEWS AND HERALD, died in that city on Sunday morning, December 11th, from the effects of typhoid fever, in the 27th year of his age. He was confined to his room about four months, and while he was critically ill hope was entertained that he would eventually recover. His father, W. W. Crosby, who had been with him during the greater part of his illness, left him a few days before his death, full of hope that he would soon be able to return to his home. But alas for human hopes. The pointed arrow of disease had done its work and nothing was left but for the grim monster Death to claim its own, and never did he claim a nobler or more promising subject from the human family. He was a member of Cool Branch Baptist Church, a Christian ever mindful of the duties he owed to God and his church, a son confiding, dutiful and loving to his parents, a brother gentle, affectionate and kind, a friend devoted and true, a citizen patriotic and alive to the interest of his State and country, a companion genial and entertaining, and as a peace-maker his influence always had its effect in the home circle, in the community and in the school room. His life was a life of peace, he loved it and practiced it from childhood till his bright young life was cut off and wailed to that land where peace and joy and rest is promised forevermore.

Dead to the world alive to me, Though months and years may pass; In a lone hour, his sight to me, Comes like the hum of some wild bee, And then his form and face I see, As when I saw him last.

The deceased was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Crosby, who about two years ago lost a younger son, David. Thus we might say they are doubly bereaved.

Ernest's remains were shipped to his parents and interred in the Cool Branch Baptist Church cemetery, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. J. H. Yarborough. Our hearts go out to these doubly bereaved parents with deepest sympathy, and we commend the soul to the Heavenly Father who alone can give them the consolation they so much need.

They who die in Christ are blessed—Ours be, then, no thought of grieving. Sweetly with their God they rest, All their toils and troubles leaving; So be ours the faith that saveth, Hope that endures, and Love that to the end endureth, And through Christ the crown secureth. Crosbyville, Dec. 19. K.

Cataract Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Cataract is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Cataract Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Cataract Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Cataract. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

There has been a great deal of sickness at Mitford this winter. Mrs. Belle Nichols and Mr. Samuel Arledge are quite sick.

Mr. John Nichols' remains were interred at Mt. Zion Church on Saturday and the remains of Mrs. Nancy Roberts were interred at Mt. Zion on Tuesday. Christmas is looked forward to with the most pleasing anticipation. While the farmers haven't cleared any money, they have much to be thankful for, and as we are changing our way of planting, etc., we expect better times next fall.

Our college boys will be home for the holidays, and we hear a few visitors are expected. Of course all will have a merry time.

Messrs. R. W. Featherston and Will Biggers, of Rock Hill, spent a few days in our town last week on business.

Rev. R. A. Young preached his farewell sermon at Bethesda Methodist Church on the first Sunday. Mr. Young has been with us for four years and we are sorry to have him leave us, but conference says it must be.

Kev. H. K. Ezell has been called to preach next year at Mt. Zion. He has worked faithfully and successfully for us for the last six years. C. S. F. December 17, 1897.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can always be depended upon and is pleasant and safe to take. Sold by McMaster Co., druggists.

Pabst Malt Extract
The Best Tonic

Taken at night stops the eternal thinking by putting you to sleep. It feeds your brain so that it recovers its tone for the next day's toil.

All druggists sell it.

John Walling has, after mature deliberation, concluded to remain single, and will become a member of the Blacksmith's Union.

Miss Annie Paulin, of Crooked Run township, was "murdered" in Brooklyn several days ago.

The quarry contingent attended the cake walk and hot supper at Mr. J. R. Currie's Mr. Wm. Boyd, of Rockton, carried off the cake.

Mr. J. P. Brooks has been awarded the quarry medal for the largest "razor back." The hams weighed 3 pounds, and they nearly dried out 4 pounds each. Mr. Timman's hog came in for the next prize.

The quarry people will tender the Hurleyville people a dinner on Xmas, and a Xmas tree for the poor children of that section.

Mrs. W. H. Walling will spend Christmas with her mother-in-law at Shipman's. We are very sorry for Mrs. Walling.

Mr. James Nicholson has returned to his mother's home, having been absent for several years.

The well niana has struck Hurleyville. Mr. David Allen has nearly finished his. Mr. Nicholson is down nearly one foot, and Scroggie will soon commence on his.

Messrs. Willie Rintand has gone away for the Xmas holidays.

Mrs. Maggie Jamison and children have returned from the "Garden of Eden." She will make Columbia her home.

Mr. William Melton, a long resident of Crooked Run, has taken a cottage at the quarry, his business calling him to that place, the walks there cool mornings not agreeing with him.

The hotels at the quarry are overrun with winter tourists. Many had to be turned over to the Hurleyville boarding houses.

Mr. L. D. Robertson and his son Henry spent the day at the quarry a few days ago. He regrets very much ever leaving us.

The Gipsies did a large business at the quarry fortune telling. Many of us will soon be rich, and some have money left them and will give it "in the neck," and some will make five to one the coming year. So much for the Gipsies coming.

Crackling corn bread is the principal diet of the quarry people at this writing. See how we do live.

The mad dog scare has about ended at the quarry. It caused many of the residents to put eight and ten-cent fences around their residences.

Mr. I. Youngston, having spent several months in Hurleyville for his health, will return to Aberdeen, Scotland, his native home. He has a piece of calico patiently awaiting his return.

Mr. Joe Glover, assisted by several ladies from the quarry, will have charge of the Xmas tree for the poor children of Hurleyville. S. December 15, 1898.

It does not require an expert to detect the sufferer from kidney trouble. The hollow cheeks, the sunken eyes, the dark, puffy circles under the eyes, the sallow parsnip-colored complexion indicates it.

A physician would ask if you had rheumatism, a dull pain or ache in the back or over the hips, stomach trouble, desire to urinate often at night, or if you are passing a quantity of urine, if it is passing there is an unsatisfied feeling as if it must be at once repeated, or if the urine has a brick dust deposit or string odor.

When these symptoms are present, no time should be lost in removing the cause.

It may lead to gravel, catarrh of the bladder, inflammation, causing stoppage, and sometimes requiring the drawing of the urine with instruments, or may run into Bright's Disease, the most dangerous stage of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kimer's Swamp-root, the great discovery of the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, is a positive remedy for such diseases. Its reputation is world-wide and it is so easy to get at any drug store that no one need suffer any length of time for want of it.

However, if you prefer to first test its wonderful merits, mention THE NEWS AND HERALD and write to Dr. Kimer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle and book telling all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail.
